ABOUT ME

I'm the author of over a dozen critically acclaimed novels published by Penguin Random House, Scholastic, and Little, Brown, and I've ghostwritten novels for several houses and private clients. But I got my start as a teacher. I've led over 500 creative writing workshops and worked with over 1,000 students over the last decade, and in 2020, I launched a YouTube channel dedicated to helping writers hone their craft and learn about the publishing industry.

I'm no guru! I've had my setbacks and struggles as a writer. But my unique experience as an author, ghostwriter, and teacher makes me a great guide –and I'd love to show you the way to finally writing The End.
